TERREX

To Outrun Limits, it's as simple as putting one foot in front of the other. However, for the gifted TERREX squad (AKA Petter Engdahl, Abby Hall, Tom Evans and Emily Hawgood), it's the preparation and planning for one of trail running's greatest challenges in Chamonix where it becomes a somewhat more complex challenge. As the competitive trail running scene continues to blossom, the demands upon performance lead to ever-evolving methods to improve. Sometimes it even takes harnessing the unique experiences of our team to create a brand-new TERREX trail shoe – in order to unlock the next advantage. This trail-running documentary charts Petter Engdahl, Abby Hall, Tom Evans and Emily Hawgood on their personal journeys to make it a year like no other for team TERREX. Where a split second can derail an entire season, the strength this team shows to one another means no teammate is truly left on the sidelines during the biggest moments of the year. This roster has enjoyed some incredible moments already, stepping onto the podium wherever the trail has led them across the planet. Though that's not to say the journey has been easy, as the likes of illness, injury and bad luck do their best to sow doubt for some. With such a hyper focus on every detail, their motivation and dedication can be put into question, as the life of an athlete proves to be as tumultuous as the terrain they tackle. Experience a year with team TERREX like never before – in Outrun Limits.
